

SUNDAY,

PARKING LOT...

WHAT A WEEK...

“I’m not going to park at Loughheed any more!!”

SUNDAY, FRIENDS, PARK LOT...

This week I was very tired, the inefficiency of Canada government made me quite exhausted when I was preparing for a business trip, at the same time, I had to work.

So, all what I want for the weekend was to relax, and get enough rest.

Haven't met other friends for a while, since they went back to China or preparing for their graduation. Finally this week, they suggested to find a restaurant at Lougheed and eat together.

Me

Guys, I just got here, parking...

I just got here too!

Jia

You guys can order first! On my way

Yi

Me

Wait! Where am I? I cannot get into the parking lot again! Ah! My car locked in this parking lot! I cannot find any contact number here!!

Could you send your location?

Jia & Yi

SUNDAY, FRIENDS, PARK LOT...

That parking lot looks quite like a public parking in downtown, I simply followed another car and entered into it. When I got out, the gate closed, and I cannot enter into it again. You cannot find any sign about the owner of that parking lot, no contact number either.

We called/talked to everyone we could, those officers simply cannot solve the problem. I was waiting outside of the parking lot, and realized people rarely park there....

SUNDAY, FRIENDS, PARK LOT...

The food tasted especially bad today....

I complained my whole week bad experience when I was talking to Canada government....

Yi just broke up with her boyfriend....

Jia found a bug in her soup, and the restaurant confused our orders....

SUNDAY, FRIENDS, PARK LOT...

No one finished our food. Finally we decided to go back to the parking lot, and see how can we get the car out.

! All of a sudden, we saw a car drove out of that parking lot! I ran into the parking lot, they were waiting in front of the gate, so that the gate won't be close.

I drove my car out! What a probability! People rarely park in that lot, I had been waiting for a long time, no one drove in, no one drove out. But at the time when we left the restaurant, the gate opened again!

What a week... Now I know friends more, know this government more, know Loughheed parking much more.
