

Visit Dali

Finally got the chance to visit the art gallery, while Dali's art is still there.

I cannot understand all of them, but still have taken 4 photos of my favorites.

I don't fully agree with all the description for those statues.

Here are my favorite 4 and what they made me think.

When we were young, this world was full of rules and we tended to obey them in a rigid way. Gradually, we are experiencing more, although the world is still full of rules, that person who is harmony, peaceful and joyful is waving, that's the internal of us.

Time is flowing, memory is melting.

We cannot change the time, but we can dance with it, like a flower!

Curiosity is like fire, lightening the exploration road in front of you; like a butterfly, adding wings to your mind.
