

Keeping Quiet is A Type of Bullying

It is embarrassing that I wanted to do some side projects for kids and cyber bullying seeming like a good one, but then the more I checked the resources, the more I felt effortless to keep doing it. There are things I will definitely never start to do.

According to the description of cyber bullying, majorly it contains saying mean words, causing by teens who cannot control their strong emotion.

My feeling is very complex and now I even give those kids who have been accused of having bullying behavior. Because is there anyone asked what caused their strong emotion?

I said many mean words toward Emmanuel in 2016 around May because he kept keeping quiet which drove me crazy. Till now he blocked my facebook message and recently just blocked my instagram.

This is unfair, that these kids who look like victims are in fact started intolerable behaviors first - keeping quiet when he can simply say something.

Keeping Quiet is A Type of Bullying

No matter how many women he's going to hang out with, his problem is still there. And if you cannot control your emotion you became the one to be blamed, which will totally hurt your reputation, because he will tell his mom or even friends.

Why not do something to stop this type of Japanese bullying, keeping quiet all the time toward an individual.

I'm not going to do anything to help stop cyber bullying.

There are so many Asian kids there how come just you got bullied?

The person who got bullied should also look for you own problem!

Did you often keep quiet when you can find more positive and effective communication methods? Did you try to be kind to others first? Are you selfish?

Are you going to talk to your mom, blaming others instead of thinking about your own problem?

Keeping Quiet is A Type of Bullying

I have zero sympathy towards those people who keep quiet in an abnormal way and got bullied.

They look like victims and easy to be scared, tend to blame others and ignore their own problems.

Kids should learn to think about their own problems too and learn to improve.

Not simply think, oh I got bullied, I'm going to talk to my mom.

They should learn to solve the problems themselves first, in a simple and effective way. Don't simply accusing others.

You should think about others too. Who will be born to like bullying you for no reason?

Keeping Quiet is A Type of Bullying

Also, from my limited observations, these bullying victims can learn to always accusing others through soft-talking, which is more disgusting. When they appeared in the workplace, it can be more poisoning.

You are gross! Asshole!

You don't know the right way to make yourself really competitive, you don't really think about the team goal and the company goal, you often put yourself at a victim position and hurt others, hurt those who are working very hard for the company.

Fortunately, that type of jerk finally left the company.