

Nothing Can be Worse Than Today

So he got a girlfriend and he blocked me. Not sure why, for some reason I felt that woman knows me.

April said, nothing can be worse than today, finally things will become better and better.

That's true.

Every time, when Emmanuel hurt me, I often told myself, don't forget about my goals.

Right, I know, I need a man who's also focused on his career, we can support each other, and we have similar good taste about life. I'm very confident about my life taste. Yes, I prefer a man who cooks well too, who loves flowers too.

My personality is really simple and straightforward. I really cannot play any trick to win a man's heart. That's not me.

I won't give up my goals. I'm still excited about the up coming DEF CON.