

Aunt Yin is Visiting...

My mom is very good at human relationship, although she's kind and honest to others, she can tell how calculated a person is, and she only shares her thoughts at home.

From my childhood till now, my mom never stopped saying, Aunt Yin is very calculated and she can always speak out nice words to make people feel very good, but you never expect to know what does she really think.

Recently, Aunt Yin just came here with my cousin's daughter, my niece. They are going to spend 1 months here with a friend. Today, Aunt Yin asked me to join their lunch, her friend brought the whole family there. Last night, I said I can pay the bill, but Aunt Yin said she will pay that to appreciate her friend.

My mom asked, "Aunt Yin and Aunt Wang, which one do you like?" I said, I didn't really see she's that calculated as you said, and I think speaking nice words is better than being straightforward which may hurt people. So I like Aunt Yin more.....

Guess, my mom is right again....

Aunt Yin is Visiting...

When I got to the restaurant this afternoon, before her friend's family came to the seats, Aunt Yin gave me her card and said, "later you use my card to pay the bill". My goodness... At that moment I was shocked. This is too smart. When she gave me the card, she's expecting me to use my own card to pay the bill. I don't think she's helping me to build the network with her friend, otherwise she will ask them to meet me long time ago, I have been here 3 years, and that's her close friend who will do whatever she said. After whole day hanging out, I was so tired. My niece, a 5-year-old kid is too talkative and she's coughing. The more she talked, the more she coughed... Which made me feel more exhausted.

When I was parking in downtown, she gave me a bracelet and a necklace, all with a price tag on it. The price is high.... Although I didn't plan to let her spend any money because I like my uncle, he's very kind, my feeling at that time was complex, not sure what to say (although I said thank you).

After dropping them at her friend's home, I didn't visit her friend's home because I just wanted to go back and take a hot shower. She may think I didn't give her face. Whatever.

*After retuning back home, my mom called me,
the first thing I said was,
“Mom, I like Aunt Wang more,
I prefer those who will really treat others in a simple way,
even if she can be very straightforward.”*

*Next week, Aunt Yin said they could live in my place for 1 night.
I hope this won't become true. I will send them back at Saturday night.
No, just leave me alone on Sunday*
