

外婆，走好

Do you believe after people died, they will talk to their loved ones through dreams?

Mom said tomorrow was suppose to be the 5th Day 7 of grandma's death, and that should be the day when grandma's soul really leave the place where she was living.

But yesterday, my youngest aunt had a dream, that grandma was crying and telling her, she really misses all her children. My aunt was crying in the dream too, then woke up and realized they calculated the wrong date... The real 5th Day 7 should be today...

So mom bought some spirit money immediately this morning, burned them before 12pm at roof top. There are many things in the tradition, that you dare not to fully distrust.

Grandma will be missed by everyone. I hope she will enjoy the happiness and peace in another world and maybe she will unit with grandpa there.

外婆，走好