

PARENTS

It is Yejia's birthday today and she invited me to her home to celebrate. Her parents are also there.

She often said, her dad makes pretty delicious food. They came from a city that's famous for spicy food, but considered I could not eat much spicy food, they made all the food non-spicy.

Her dad was making the food all the time, while we were having the dinner, and kept asking us to eat more. Her mom normally doesn't have dinner but sat with us, had some soup and kept smiling.

All of a sudden I felt that was so touching. My parents do the same thing. My mom was always the one who kept making food while the whole large family got together and eating, she normally won't have much food, but kept asking everyone to eat more. My dad will give her some help and also chat with the guests.

After retuning back, my parents called me for video chat. So happy to see them.