

MESSAGES NEVER SENT OUT

I have noticed that I can see your status for a while.
But only from a virtual machine. These days, miss you so much, but just want to keep quiet. So I turned on the virtual machine, seeing you there, without letting you know, feeling peaceful.

But, today.... when I tried to login with a one-time password on my local machine,

Me

You

that password has been entered into your chat box, I clicked the mouse, wanted to remove the text, but that click sent the message out...

MESSAGES NEVER SENT OUT

Nothing can express my feelings at that moment better than this painting...
I chose not to message you, in case my explain will only complex everything.
I miss you.

